Siemens acquires Victory Industriebeteiligung AG and prepares takeover bid for VA Tech

Siemens AG Österreich has signed on Nov. 7, 2004 an agreement to acquire Austria's Victory Industriebeteiligung AG. Directly and indirectly, Victory holds a roughly 16% stake in VA Technologie AG (VA Tech). As a result of the Victory acquisition, Siemens has informed the boards of VA Tech, the boards of Österreichische Industrie Holding AG (ÖIAG) and the Austrian government that it will participate in VA Tech's capital increase which is expected later this month. Furthermore, Siemens has informed the Austrian takeover panel about its plans to shortly submit a voluntary takeover bid for all of VA Tech outstanding shares. The offer price of 55 per share is a very fair offer which also takes into account the recent share's price development of VA Tech, said Heinrich v. Pierer, President and CEO.

With annual sales of some 3.9 billion and 17,500 employees, VA Tech is one of Austria's largest technology companies and service providers. The company is an international leader in the areas of metallurgy systems, hydro power generation equipment, power transmission and generation, and infrastructure systems. In the context of the planned takeover Siemens intends to integrate the company into its own organization. The offer will be subject to internal and various regulatory approvals and will have to take into account the terms of the existing Voith-Siemens Hydro joint venture.

Combining VA Tech's business activities with those of Siemens will enhance the product, service and regional reach of the combined entity and hence be beneficial for our customers, the employees and the shareholders. The advantages will be particularly evident in the growth markets of Central and Eastern Europe, the Middle East and Asia.
