1. The rumours in brief

On 3 July 2012, the 21st Century Business Herald (21 ) published an article by He Qing, entitled Fu Chengyu's new reorganization policy on track; Sinopec sets to push forward S shares share reform ( S ). The article said: an informed party close to Sinopec revealed that the share reform program is already underway for the share reform program, and major shareholders of tradable shares have been briefed. Sinopec hopes to complete the share reform this year. The article was reproduced by Sina and other financial media on 4 July.

2. The clarification announcement

Sinopec Shanghai Petrochemical Company Limited (the Company or SPC ) has made an enquiry with its controlling shareholder China Petroleum & Chemical Corporation ( Sinopec ) about the relevant reports, and was informed that Sinopec has not yet set any specific plan or timetable for the share reform of SPC.

The Company had published Announcement Regarding Risk Alert on the Progress of the Company's Share Reform (the Announcement ), an Overseas Regulatory Announcement issued on 15 June 2012. The Announcement said the Company cannot disclose the share reform plan within the coming one month , and that at present, the Company has not yet entered into any share reform sponsor contract with any sponsor . Up to now, the Company has not received any proposal or timetable for the share reform from Sinopec.

The Company states once again that at present, the number of shares held by the shareholders of non-tradable shares of the Company under the share reform proposal has not reached the two-thirds limit as stipulated in the Measures Governing the Split-share Reform of Listed Companies, and that the Company has not yet entered into any share reform sponsor contract with any sponsor.
