Lawsuit ruled in favor of minority shareholder of Petroquisa S.A.

(Rio de Janeiro, December 27, 2004). PETRÓLEO BRASILEIRO S/A - PETROBRAS, [Bovespa: PETR3/PETR4, NYSE: PBR/PBRA, Latibex: XPBR/XPBRA], a Brazilian international energy company, wishes to clarify the following matters with respect to an item published in today's edition of the Valor Econômico newspaper and entitled "Petrobras loses US$ 5 billion lawsuit".

On December 10 2004, the Official Gazette of the State of Rio de Janeiro published a decision by the Third Panel of the State Appeals Court (TJ/RJ) which ruled against the special and extraordinary appeals by PETROBRAS against an agreement handed down by the same TJ/RJ, under a Request for Reconsideration, which had condemned the Company to pay damages of US$ 2,370 million to its subsidiary PETROQUISA. These damages reflect supposed losses caused to PETROQUISA's assets as a result of acts agreed by PETROBRAS in the Company's position as majority shareholder (holder of 99% of the capital), in approving the minimum sale price of PETROQUISA's stake in the capital of several privatized petrochemical companies. The decision against which these appeals were made further condemned PETROBRAS to pay 5% on the amount of the damages to Porto Seguro (a minority shareholder of PETROQUISA and responsible for filing the lawsuit) in the form of a premium (Article 246, 2nd paragraph of the Corporate Law), plus 20% for legal fees.

PETROBRAS' Legal Department, in conjunction with its outside legal advisers, is preparing to file a further appeal (interlocutory appeal) with the High Court of Justice (STJ) and the Federal Supreme Court (STF). The purpose of this appeal through these courts is not only to reverse the above-mentioned decision of December 10 2004, but also to obtain court agreement to reexamine the merits of the damages ruling as such.

The ruling contained in the decision of December 10 by the state court does not correspond to any definitive and final legal judgment on the matter. PETROBRAS continues to believe that the ruling against it will be overturned in Brasília in the light of the appropriate legislation.

We should point out once again that for the sake of argument only, should the ruling be eventually upheld, the value of the damages would be due to Petroquisa, in which Petrobras holds more than 99% of the formers capital stock. The effective disbursement, should the ruling not be reversed, would therefore be 25% of the value claimed or US$ 592.5 million, (the 5% premium + 20% legal fees) representing the Company's maximum exposure.
