FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

CHARMING SHOPPES COMMENTS ON GLASS LEWIS REPORT

INDEPENDENT PROXY ADVISOR REJECTS
DISSIDENT GROUP'S TWO HEDGE FUND NOMINEES

Bensalem, PA, April 24, 2008 – Charming Shoppes, Inc. (Nasdaq: CHRS) today announced that Glass Lewis & Co. has recommended that shareholders reject Arnaud Ajdler and Robert Frankfurt, the two hedge fund director candidates nominated by the Crescendo Partners and Myca Partners hedge funds, for election to Charming Shoppes' Board of Directors at the Company's 2008 Annual Meeting of Shareholders.

Charming Shoppes today issued the following statement:

“We are pleased that Glass Lewis recommended that shareholders not support the dissident group's two hedge fund nominees, Ajdler and Frankfurt, neither of whom has any relevant retail or management experience.

“The principals of the Crescendo and Myca hedge funds – as they have done at other publicly-traded companies – are advocating a risky and imprudent short-term financial reengineering scheme at Charming Shoppes with the goal of leveraging up the Company and buying back stock. These hedge funds have still not advocated any new ideas to navigate the Company through the current economic environment or create long-term shareholder value.

“We believe, however, that Glass Lewis missed the mark with respect to the dissident group's third nominee, Michael Appel. We think Glass Lewis is simply wrong to equate the qualifications of Appel with those of Charming Shoppes' directors. Appel's retail experience has been primarily limited to small companies in restructuring or Chapter 11. Furthermore, Appel has no experience as a senior executive of a public company and no Board experience. On the other hand, Charming Shoppes' directors are highly skilled in public company leadership, retail, marketing, operating, finance, accounting, governance and overall executive management – all areas that are critical to the continued success of this Company.

“Importantly, Charming Shoppes' directors and management team know how to manage successfully through challenging retail and economic environments. As Glass Lewis noted in its report, Charming Shoppes ‘has recently taken actions that we believe will be beneficial for the Company and its shareholders, including substantial restructuring efforts and tying a significant portion of the CEO's compensation to performance.’”*

Charming Shoppes recommends that all shareholders support its Board of Directors and reject all of the dissident group's nominees. It is important to remember that only the latest dated validly executed and timely received proxy counts in a contested election such as this. Vote today by telephone or internet to be sure your proxy is received in time to be counted. Follow the simple voting instructions contained on the GOLD proxy card or contact MacKenzie Partners, Inc., which is assisting the Company in this matter, toll-free at (800) 322-2885 or charming@mackenziepartners.com.

Shareholders are urged to vote only Charming Shoppes's GOLD proxy card and to throw away the dissident group's white proxy card. If shareholders have previously voted a white card, even to withhold their vote from the dissident group's nominees, they are urged to please take the time today to vote the GOLD proxy card.
