CITIZENS COMMUNICATIONS ELECTS TWO ADDITIONAL INDEPENDENT DIRECTORS

July 30, 2002, Stamford, Conn. - Citizens Communications Company (NYSE: CZN) announced today that two additional independent directors, Maggie Wilderotter and William Kraus, have been elected to the company's Board of Directors.

Wilderotter is president, chief executive officer and director of Wink Communications, Inc. (NASDAQ: WINK), the leading mass-market interactive television solution in North America. On June 24, 2002, Wink Communications and Liberty Broadband Interactive Television (LBIT) announced the execution of a definitive merger agreement whereby Wink will operate as a wholly-owned subsidiary of LBIT under Wilderotter's leadership.

Prior to joining Wink, Wilderotter was executive vice president of national operations for AT&T Wireless Services, Inc. and chief executive officer of AT&T's Aviation Communications Division. From 1991 to 1995, she was senior vice president of McCaw Cellular Communications, Inc. and regional president of its California/Nevada/Hawaii Region. She was with U.S. Computer Services, Inc./Cable Data, as senior vice president and general manager from 1985 to 1991. She is a member of the board of directors of Airborne, Inc., The McClatchy Company, American Tower Corporation, and Gaylord Entertainment Company. She was a director of Electric Lightwave, Inc., a wholly-owned subsidiary of Citizens Communications that was formerly a publicly-traded company. Wilderotter is a graduate of Holy Cross College, where she is also a trustee.

Kraus is a former director of Electric Lightwave, Inc., Century Communications Corp., and Centennial Cellular Corp. He is chairman emeritus of Guild.com and a columnist for the Madison (Wis.) Capital Times. Kraus held senior executive positions with Sentry Insurance and the Equitable Life Assurance Company prior to his retirement. He has a Bachelor of Science degree from the University of Minnesota and a law degree from the University of Wisconsin.
