This proxy statement contains the required information under the rules of the Securities and Exchange Commission and is designed to assist you in voting your shares.

Revocation of Proxies. If you execute a proxy, you will retain the right to revoke it at any time before it is voted. Your right to revoke your proxy is not limited by or subject to compliance with a specified formal procedure, but you should give written notice to the Secretary of the Company at or before the annual meeting so that the number of shares represented by proxy can be recomputed.

Voting of Proxies. If you properly execute and return the enclosed proxy card, the individuals named on the proxy card (your proxies) will vote your shares in the manner you indicate. We urge you to specify your choices by marking the appropriate box on the enclosed proxy card; if you sign and return the proxy card without indicating your instructions, your shares will be voted FOR THE ELECTION OF DIRECTORS NOMINATED BY THE BOARD OF DIRECTORS AND AGAINST THE SHAREHOLDER PROPOSAL ON NON-AUDIT SERVICES, and with respect to any other business that may come before the meeting, as recommended by the Board of Directors. You may vote for, against, or abstain from voting on, any matter that may properly come before the meeting.

Quorum. A quorum is necessary to hold a valid meeting. If shareholders entitled to cast at least a majority of all the votes entitled to be cast at the annual meeting are present in person or by proxy, a quorum will exist. Shares represented by proxies containing an abstention as to any matter will be treated as shares that are present and entitled to vote for purposes of determining a quorum. Similarly, shares held by brokers

In addition, outside directors of the Company each receive an annual grant of nonqualified options on the first business day of each January, exercisable at the fair market value of the Company's common stock. Under the current terms of this annual grant, the Chairman of the Board of Directors receives options for 10,000 shares, each committee chair receives options for 7,500 shares, and all other outside directors receive options for 5,000 shares. In addition, the Board of Directors may grant nonqualified options to an outside director upon his or her initial election or appointment to the Board of Directors. Directors appointed in 2001 each received options for 2,000 shares upon initial appointment.

Compensation Committee Report on Executive Compensation*

The Company's executive compensation is determined by a Compensation Committee comprised of three members of the Board of Directors. Members of the Compensation Committee currently include Mr. McChesney, who is Chairman, and Ms. McKibbin and Mr. Beatty.

During 2001, the Company experienced significant turnover in both senior management and membership on the Compensation Committee. This turnover resulted in two key practical realities for the Company's executive compensation program: (1) the Company needed to pay that compensation (in form and amount) necessary to attract qualified candidates to fill the Company's executive positions; and (2) the Committee maintained existing executive compensation programs to retain other executives. The base compensation of all of the Company's named executive officers is set by employment contract.

With respect to Mr. Sambataro's recruitment as CEO, the committee negotiated an employment contract for cash compensation and stock options based primarily on the levels of compensation payable to Mr. King, his predecessor. Mr. Sambataro's base compensation was set by the employment agreement, so that in future years the Committee may increase (but not decrease) his cash compensation on such factors as the Committee may determine.

The Committee expects during 2002 to engage the services of a compensation consultant to (1) assist the Committee in assessing and refining its compensation philosophy; (2) evaluate the Company's existing compensation programs; and (3) work with the CEO to recommend any appropriate changes to the Company's compensation programs.

Audit Committee Report

The Audit Committee is comprised of three independent members of the Board of Directors. Members of the Audit Committee currently include Mr. Schafer, who is Chairman, and Mr. Sullivan and Mr. Steele.

The Audit Committee has reviewed and discussed with management the Company's audited financial statements as of and for the year ended December 31, 2001. The Audit Committee has discussed with the independent auditors the matters required to be discussed by Statement on Auditing Standards No. 61, Communication with Audit Committees, as amended, by the Auditing Standards Board of the American Institute of Certified Public Accountants. The Audit Committee has received and reviewed the written disclosures and the letter from the independent auditors required by Independence Standard No. 1, Independence Discussions with Audit Committees, as amended, by the Independence Standards Board, and has discussed with the independent accountants the independent accountants' independence.

During fiscal year 2001, the Company retained its principal auditor, Arthur Andersen LLP, to provide services in the following categories and amounts:

Audit Fees and Quarterly Reviews	$	188,000

Edgar Filing: LABOR READY INC - Form DEF 14A

Financial Information Systems Design and Implementation Fees	$	-0-
All Other Fees
Audit-related fees	$	80,050
Other fees	$	146,800
Total All Other Fees	$	226,850

The fees included in "All Other Fees" relate to statutory audits of subsidiaries, preparation of tax returns, consultation on tax compliance matters, assessments of network security and audits of employee benefit plans.

The Audit Committee has considered whether the provision of non-audit services by the Company's principal auditor is compatible with maintaining auditor independence and has concluded that such services are compatible with maintaining independence of the auditors. Based on the reviews and discussions referred to above, the Audit Committee has recommended to the Board of Directors that the financial statements referred to above be included in the Company's Annual Report on Form 10-K for the year ended December 31, 2001 for filing with the Securities Exchange Commission.

Arthur Andersen LLP (Andersen) has served as the Company's independent auditors each year since 1997. The Audit Committee believes that Andersen has met all the requirements of an independent auditor and that the audit services and related work provided by Andersen have met the highest professional standards. However, in light of recent events which have lent uncertainty to the future of Andersen, the Audit Committee and the Board of Directors are presently considering whether a change should be made in the Company's independent auditors. The Audit Committee and the Board will continue to evaluate this situation, and anticipate that a final determination as to the retention of auditors for 2002 will be made prior to the Company's annual shareholders meeting. At the present time it is expected that representatives of Andersen will be present at the annual meeting to make a statement if they desire to do so and respond to appropriate questions by shareholders.

PROPOSAL 2. SHAREHOLDER PROPOSAL ON NON-AUDIT SERVICES

The following proposal was submitted by the Amalgamated Bank LongView SmallCap 600 Fund (the "Fund"), 11-15 Union Square, New York, NY 10003, owner of 32,900 shares of common stock. If a qualified representative of the Fund is present and submits the proposal for a vote, then the proposal will be voted upon at the annual meeting. In accordance with federal securities regulations, we have included the proposal and the supporting statement as submitted by the Fund. To ensure that readers can easily distinguish between material provided by the Fund and material provided by the Company, we have put the material provided by the Fund in italics.

RESOLVED: The shareholders request that the Board of Directors of Labor Ready, Inc. ("Labor Ready" or the "Company") appoint as independent auditors only those firms that agree not to provide Labor Ready with non-audit consulting services for the term of the appointment.

SUPPORTING STATEMENT

Independent auditors play a key role in promoting confidence in the integrity of financial reporting and U.S. capital markets. The Securities and Exchange Commission requires independent auditors to certify or audit the financial information that companies file with the SEC. As a result, the work auditors perform is important not only to companies, but also to investors.

The recent collapse of Enron Corporation has once again shone a spotlight on the role of independent auditors, as previously happened after disclosures of accounting fraud at Sunbeam, Cendant and Waste Management. The failure of Enron Corporation has raised questions about what Enron's auditors at Arthur Andersen knew, when they knew it, and what facts they saw fit to certify to the SEC and to shareholders.

Edgar Filing: LABOR READY INC - Form DEF 14A

In our view it is important to eliminate incentives that can undermine an auditor's objectivity and tough-mindedness. An auditor's independence can be compromised in various ways. The provision of certain kinds of non-audit consulting services to audit clients may create economic incentives that can lead a firm to devalue the audit services and focus on retaining the client, even at the cost of making inappropriate audit judgments.

There have been reports in the media about individual auditors being pressured to "cross-sell" their employer's non-audit services to audit clients. There have also been reports about auditors submitting "loss leader" bids to provide audit services as a way to establish a relationship with a company and then try to sell more lucrative non-audit services.

In recent decades, the proportion of revenues derived from non-audit services, such as internal audit, information technology, financial advisory and appraisal and valuation services, has grown steadily. At the five largest public accounting firms, revenues derived from non-audit services grew from 13% of total revenues in 1981 to half of total revenues in 2000.

The phenomenon is apparent at Labor Ready, which reported that in 2000 Labor Ready paid Arthur Andersen $182,000 for audit fees and quarterly reviews and an additional $325,000 for all other fees 178% more than was paid for the audit function.

We are concerned that a "mutuality of interest" not conducive to independence may develop from the provision of certain kinds of non-audit services. For example, if an auditor discovers a problem with software or an internal audit system that the auditor's firm designed and installed as part of its "non-audit" services, the auditor is put in the awkward position of having to advise the client about the audit firm's error.

We believe that firms retained by Labor Ready to provide audit services should perform only audit services.

We urge you to vote FOR this resolution.

STATEMENT IN OPPOSITION TO SHAREHOLDER PROPOSAL ON NON-AUDIT SERVICES

The Board of Directors recommends a vote against the proposal to prohibit our outside auditors from providing any non-audit services.

The Audit Committee of the Board of Directors is comprised of three independent, outside directors, each of whom possesses certain requisite financial literacy as required by law. Each year, the Audit Committee requires written disclosure from our auditors of any matter that may reasonably bear on independence, as well as confirmation that any non-audit services provided by the auditors do not impair their independence. The Audit Committee reviews these issue with the auditors and the Company, considers whether the provision of non-audit related services might in fact impair the auditors' independence, and makes recommendations to the Board of Directors accordingly.

The Board of Directors recognizes the importance of auditor independence, and appreciates the legitimate concerns behind the Fund's proposal. While satisfied that the measures described above have effectively promoted auditor independence, and that all accounting services provided are permitted under the auditor independence rules, the Board is committed to eliminating incentives which could potentially undermine objectivity in the future. For example, the Board recognizes that an auditor's provision of certain non-audit services, including such services as financial information system design and implementation, information technology systems consultation and internal audit, can under certain circumstances compromise auditor independence.

On the other hand, the Board also recognizes that not all non-audit services pose the same risk to independence, and that certain kinds of non-audit services may be most effectively performed by the Company's auditors. Indeed, by providing certain non-audit services, the auditor often gains knowledge about a company which results in a more effective audit.

After considering these factors, the Audit Committee and Board of Directors have concluded that the prudent course of action is to strike an appropriate balance between these competing concerns. While the Audit Committee's hands should not be bound with an absolute and inflexible policy, it is essential to safeguarding auditor independence that the Audit Committee be consulted and its approval be obtained before our auditors provide any non-audit services. Therefore, the Board of Directors has adopted the following policy resolution:

The Company's independent auditors may be engaged to provide non-audit services only after the Audit Committee has first considered the proposed engagement and has determined in each instance that the auditors' independence will not be impaired thereby. The Audit Committee's determination shall generally be guided by whether a reasonable investor, knowing all relevant facts and circumstances, would conclude that the auditors' exercise of objective and impartial judgment on all issues encompassed within the auditors' engagement would be impaired.

The Board of Directors believes that this policy will promote auditor independence while facilitating appropriate efficiencies and the highest quality work product. Accordingly, the Board of Directors recommends a vote against the proposal to prohibit our outside auditors from providing any non-audit services.

Statement of Policy

The primary function of the Audit Committee is to assist the Board of Directors in its oversight of the integrity of financial information provided to shareholders and others, its review of the adequacy of the system of internal controls established by the Company and its monitoring of the audit process. In performing these functions, the Audit Committee shall review the Company's financial reporting process and internal controls, review and appraise the audit efforts of the Company's independent auditors and provide open means of communication between the directors, the independent auditors and the financial and senior management of the Company.
