CHINA REGION FUND, INC.

OBJECTIVES

Jardine Fleming China Region Fund, Inc. (the "Fund") seeks to achieve long-term capital appreciation through investments primarily in equity securities of companies with substantial assets in, or revenues derived from, the People's Republic of China (PRC or China), Hong Kong, Taiwan, and Macau--collectively, the China Region.

The Fund provides investors with an opportunity to participate in the growing economies of the China Region, especially that of the PRC, although investments are expected to be predominantly in securities listed on the Stock Exchange of Hong Kong. Hong Kong enterprises have made substantial investments in the PRC, in Guangdong Province in particular, where abundant cheap labor and land are available. Hong Kong is also the largest trading partner of the PRC.

The economies of the PRC, Hong Kong, Taiwan, and Macau have become increasingly linked over the past 10 years and are expected to become further integrated now that Hong Kong and Macau have reverted to Chinese sovereignty. Investments made by the Fund will seek to take advantage of opportunities resulting from this linkage among the China Region markets.

MANAGEMENT

JF International Management Inc. ("JFIM") (formerly Jardine Fleming International Management Inc.) is the investment management company appointed to advise and manage the Fund's portfolio. With the completion of the merger between Robert Fleming Holdings Ltd. and The Chase Manhattan Corporation ("Chase") in October 2000, and the subsequent merger between Chase and J.P. Morgan & Co. Incorporated in January 2001, JFIM became part of J.P. Morgan Chase & Co. ("JPMC"), one of the world's premier financial services institutions. In asset management, JPMC will operate globally under the name of JPMorgan Fleming Asset Management ("JPMFAM"), although in Asia it will use the sub-brand JF Asset Management. Funds under management for the global asset management business of JPMFAM were US $516 billion as of December 31, 2002.

Chung Man Wing is the portfolio manager of the Fund. Mr. Chung joined JFIM

CHAIRMAN'S STATEMENT

Dear Shareholders,

2002 was a challenging year, both for your Fund and for equities generally, as global economic and corporate earnings prospects remained sluggish. Towards the end of the year, deteriorating geopolitical conditions further weighed on markets. For the whole year, global equities, as measured by the MSCI World Index (Total), declined 19.5%. Against this difficult backdrop, equity markets in the China Region experienced substantial volatility. In China, the continued tariff war and regulatory uncertainty hurt the large mobile phone company stocks and dragged the MSCI China Index (Total) down over the year. In Hong Kong, the blue chips were depressed by persistent deflation and lackluster earnings growth, although selected mid-cap manufacturers/exporters did well in both absolute and relative terms. Taiwan's equity market also declined as the large technology stocks suffered from poor earnings and negative sentiment towards their stock offerings. Nonetheless, certain mid-cap industrial stocks and transportation stocks outperformed the overall Taiwan market, as they were perceived as beneficiaries of the increasing economic integration between China and Taiwan. Overall, the aggregate MSCI Golden Dragon Index (Total), the Fund's benchmark, was down by 19.7% for the year.

During this difficult year, the Fund managed to outperform its MSCI Golden Dragon benchmark by 11.5% in net asset value ("NAV") terms. But in absolute terms, the Fund's NAV fell 8.2%. The Fund's share price performed relatively better, falling only 1.1% over the year. See the Investment Review, also enclosed in this report, for additional details on results and prospects for China Region investments.

Looking forward, we expect that the China growth story will remain "in play" and believe it presents promising investment opportunities. While China's entry into the World Trade Organization is accelerating the formation of a rule-based market economy, the new Chinese leadership will be challenged in its efforts at financial reform and in managing rising unemployment caused by the rationalization of state-owned enterprises and the opening of the agricultural sector. Corporate governance, while improving, is still rudimentary among the Chinese firms. As such, the Fund's investment advisor plans to continue its focus on bottom-up stock selection -- hoping to seek companies that stand ready to reap the "China Harvest," regardless of where the company's securities are listed. The Fund's investment advisor has also stated its intention to continue its top-down analysis, focusing on the powerful secular trends of privatization, industrialization and increasing consumption in China. We are optimistic about this combination of bottom-up and top-down approaches.

Despite this optimism towards the Fund's investment opportunities, given the Fund's declining size, the lack of liquidity for the Fund's shares, and the persistent discount to NAV at which the Fund's shares trade in the market, your Board recently announced its unanimous decision to propose dissolution of the Fund and a plan for liquidation to shareholders at the Fund's annual meeting of stockholders, which is scheduled for May 8, 2003. If the proposal is approved by shareholders and if all other conditions contained in the plan of liquidation are satisfied, the Fund will be liquidated. Information about the liquidation proposal will be included in the proxy statement for the above-mentioned annual meeting. The proxy statement is expected to be distributed within a few weeks and I encourage shareholders to carefully review and consider it once it is available.

Respectfully submitted,

/s/ THE RT. HON. THE EARL OF CROMER

INVESTMENT REVIEW

Dear Shareholders:

2002 was a difficult year for equity investors worldwide. Within the China Region, the MSCI Hong Kong Index (Total) fell 17.8%, as the economy and the major corporates there suffered from deflation, a loss of pricing power and lackluster earnings prospects. In China, continued concerns about regulatory changes, poor corporate governance and an overhang relating to expected sales of government-held shares weighed on the market; and the MSCI China Index (Total) was down 14.0% for the year. In Taiwan, despite the good returns in the first quarter, the middle of the year was beset by the lack of encouraging earnings reports and worries about poor demand from the U.S. Heightened tensions in the Middle East damaged investors' confidence further towards the year-end. As a result, the MSCI Taiwan Index dropped 24.5% for the year.

The Fund's benchmark, the MSCI Golden Dragon Index (Total), fell 19.7% over the year. Because of good stock selection, the Fund managed to outperform the benchmark over the period, in terms of both net asset value (down 8.2%) and share price (down 1.1%). The most positive of our stock selections came in Hong Kong, where the Fund's overweight positions (relative to the benchmark) in selected mid-cap manufacturing stocks (such as Fountain Set and Techtronic) boosted performance in terms of both absolute and relative returns. In China, the Fund's underweight positions in large telecom stocks (such as China Mobile) and overweight positions in oil stocks (such as Petrochina) and mid-cap consumer and manufacturing stocks (such as Brilliance China and Tong Ren Tang Technologies) proved rewarding. However, stock selection in Taiwan detracted from the Fund's value, as we were slightly underweight in the financial and chemical stocks there.

In Hong Kong, the local Hang Seng Index lost 18.2% in 2002. Property stocks turned in the worst performances, as residential property prices fell for the fifth consecutive year. Despite the government's supportive measures, transaction volume faced downward pressure, as primary market launches put pressure on the secondary market, driving prices down. A deteriorating employment picture and wage cuts across the territory also plagued investor sentiment. The blue chip conglomerates, which feature the large-cap telecom-related Hutchison and commercial landlord Swire, also underperformed, as investors were nervous about Hutchison's aggressive investments in global 3G mobile phone businesses, while the commercial rent cycle in Hong Kong continued to trend downwards. On the other hand, banks and utilities continued to outperform in an overall falling market. Despite the moderate earnings growth for banks and utilities, investors welcomed their high dividend yield and healthy return on equity. As mentioned before, selected mid-cap consumer and manufacturing stocks did well, thanks to their proven China angles, strong earnings growth prospects and reasonable share valuations.

Stocks within the Chinese universe posted mixed performance during the year. Helped by the strong performance of the oil and chemical sectors, in particular Petrochina and Sinopec, the Hang Seng "H share" Index (referring to shares of Chinese state-owned enterprises listed on the Hong Kong exchange) was up 13.2% and was one of the best performing indices in Asia. On the other hand, the Hang Seng "Red Chips" Index (referring to Hong Kong-based and -listed companies that are ultimately controlled by enterprises or government interests in China) was down 24.6% over the year, mainly owing to the poor performance of the large-cap mobile telecom stocks. The disappointing performance of telecom stocks more than negated the good performance of upstream offshore oil explorer CNOOC, which, thanks to the firm crude oil price and its overseas alliances, was up 38.1%. Nonetheless, selected small- and medium-sized red chips, especially those benefiting from China's robust trade growth and rising consumption, managed to post positive returns. These included mobile handset manufacturer TCL and container leasing company COSCO Pacific, in which the Fund was overweight. The once high-flying Hong Kong-listed "private chips" (referring to listed companies from China's "private sector" of companies that do not have a history rooted in China's state-owned industries) consolidated in the middle of the year after a well-publicized scandal involving Euro-Asia Agriculture and its founder Yang Bin. Despite the strong profits growth and low valuations of some of these private chips, investors shied away from them as doubts about their corporate governance and accounting standards persisted. Meanwhile, the "B" share markets (referring to shares that were originally restricted to foreign investors, but that now may be owned by both Chinese and foreign investors) in Shanghai and Shenzhen were down 33.8% and 29.6%, respectively. Sentiment towards the "B" shares was dragged down by the nervousness in the domestic "A" shares markets (referring to shares on the Shanghai and Shenzhen markets that can only be owned by Chinese investors), which was exacerbated by the deflating of the high PER multiple and the overhang created by the government selling down its stake in the listed "A" shares.

In Taiwan, the local TAIEX Index had a roller-coaster ride and ended 2002 down 19.3%. The year started off well for the technology-heavy index, with hopes of acceleration in export demand and of better global sentiment driving share prices. However, as the year progressed, both domestic consumer spending and export orders came in weaker than expected. In particular, the upwards global inventory adjustment in the technology sector started to weaken after the first quarter, when product prices and profit margins in various technology subsectors such as DRAM began to drop. This led to a drastic fall for the TAIEX in general and the technology sector in particular. Over the year, Taiwan's banking sector outperformed the broader TAIEX, underpinned by expectations, and realization in certain cases, of industry consolidation. However, the deepening consolidation and industry reforms ran into serious doubt after massive farmer protests against the closure of agricultural credit institutions. Elsewhere, optimism regarding improving relations between China and Taiwan led to a rally in the so-called "China Harvest" plays (referring to the expectation that Taiwan companies with significant operations in China will benefit from economic growth there), which include light industrials, consumer goods and transportation stocks. The commodities plays, especially steel and chemicals, were strong on the back of high product prices and good dividend yields.

OUTLOOK AND STRATEGY

Edgar Filing: JARDINE FLEMING CHINA REGION FUND INC - Form N-30D

Despite the positive outlook for the China Region and the Fund's investment prospects that we outline below, the Fund's Board has recently decided to recommend the liquidation of the Fund, as discussed in the preceding statement by the Fund's chairman. We will be mindful of the possibility that the Fund may be liquidated in making investment decisions. If, however, the decision to liquidate the Fund is not made, we expect to continue to keep the Fund invested in the various China Region markets, in keeping with our general view of these markets outlined below.

We expect that the sluggish economic and corporate outlook in the US and other OECD countries will keep equity investors on the sideline for the time being. Moreover, the situations in the Middle East and the Korean peninsula will cap near-term upside for the broader markets. However, we continue to be encouraged by the positive, long-term trends that are emerging within the China Region. We expect to be able to identify stock-specific investment opportunities likely to benefit from these powerful trends and that will serve investors well as safe havens amid the current external uncertainty.

CHINA REGION FUND, INC.

In Hong Kong, the major blue chips and the broader index continue to be constrained by stubborn domestic deflation and anemic earnings growth momentum. Coupled with geopolitical tensions, significant upside potential for the market appears limited. On the other hand, Hong Kong may outperform major North Asian markets, such as Korea, as Hong Kong is perceived as less sensitive to the US market. Furthermore, market valuations now appear more reasonable in light of improved dividend yield, despite slow earnings growth. As such, we expect the Hang Seng Index and the major blue chip stocks to stay within a narrow trading range. In terms of strategy for Hong Kong, we expect to continue to concentrate on stock selection. We intend to stay focused on a select group of well managed, mid-cap manufacturing companies that have built up efficient operations, show sustainable growth potential and have shares still trading at reasonable valuations, even after the recent strong run for such stocks.

In China, the dichotomy between the healthy macro-economic growth and the often disappointing share price performance is expected to continue for some time. While the China growth story remains "in play," thus attracting a continued influx of foreign direct investment and accelerating the powerful secular trends of privatization, urbanization and increased consumption, the listed pure Chinese companies are not considered to be good quality long-term investment candidates. The earnings of these companies are still of a very cyclical and volatile nature and their business models are often affected by changing policies and escalating competition outside their control. Last but not least, corporate governance standards, while improving, are still rudimentary. As such, we plan to continue our prudent bottom-up approach towards investing in Chinese shares. From a tactical perspective, we expect to maintain our overweight positions in the materials and basic commodities stocks, which we expect to enjoy a strong cyclical earnings recovery, thanks to the robust domestic demand resulting from the rapid industrialization of China. Also, we continue to focus on companies, especially those with well-established brand names and distribution franchises, that we expect to benefit from the increasing spending by Chinese consumers. In 2003, we expect to see the corporatization and floatation of more investment-grade quality Chinese entities, mostly on the Hong Kong exchange. These should include leading state enterprises in the financial, telecommunications and transportation sectors. In addition, many more good quality private chips from the industrial and consumer sectors are also expected to tap the capital markets, both in China and abroad. As such, the breadth and depth of the Chinese stock universe will improve significantly, thus providing more investment opportunities for the Fund.

In Taiwan, we expect the outlook for the TAIEX heavyweight technology stocks to remain uncertain over at least the next few months. Investment demand from the US will be clouded further by the prospects for war in the Middle East. Also, we believe that consensus earnings estimates by the investment community following Taiwan still look over-optimistic. Therefore, while we expect to maintain a few strategic positions in leading Taiwan technology companies that have genuine China exposure and that have seen their shares sold down to very attractive levels, we plan to remain underweight in the technology sector. On the other hand, we have gradually increased our exposure to what the Taiwanese press has called the China Harvest plays over the last year and expect to remain overweight in them. These include companies in various manufacturing industries and the consumer goods sector that have, like their counterparts in Hong Kong, established significant production capabilities in China. They are now ready to reap the "harvest," both in terms of using China as an export base and increasingly with an eye to tapping the massive Chinese domestic consumer market. In addition, we expect that the increasing economic integration and trade flows into and out of China will benefit a few Taiwanese transportation companies. These China Harvest plays often exhibit strong earnings growth and high return on equity, and therefore we believe they should still have significant share price appreciation potential, despite their recent good performance.

And looking at one final opportunity, as the operating environment in China improves, an increasing number of entrepreneurs and companies across the Asia Pacific region, especially those from Korea and Singapore, will step up their investments in China. These will initially include many industrial manufacturers, which we expect to seek to take advantage of the low labor cost and high productivity in China, and we expect companies from the service and consumer sectors to follow suit. The Fund is likely to build positions in these regional China plays, based on their individual merits and our overall stock selection criteria.

While the external environment may be challenging and structural economic issues within the China Region remain to be grappled with, the development of the Chinese economy will present many investment opportunities across the region that we feel cannot be ignored. We are confident that our disciplined investment strategy for the Fund has the potential to provide good investment returns.

CHINA REGION FUND, INC.

NOTES TO FINANCIAL STATEMENTS

DECEMBER 31, 2002

1. ORGANIZATION AND CAPITAL

Jardine Fleming China Region Fund, Inc. (the "Fund") was incorporated in the State of Maryland on May 22, 1992, and is registered as a non-diversified, closed-end management investment company under the Investment Company Act of 1940. The Fund commenced operations on July 16, 1992.

2. SIGNIFICANT ACCOUNTING POLICIES

The following significant accounting policies, which are in conformity with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America for investment companies, are consistently followed by the Fund in the preparation of its financial statements.

The preparation of financial statements in accordance with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America ("GAAP") requires management to make estimates and assumptions that affect the reported amounts and disclosures in the financial statements. Actual results could differ from these estimates.

I) SECURITY VALUATION

All securities for which market quotations are readily available are valued at the last sales price prior to the time of determination, or, if no sales price is available at that time, at the mean between the last current bid and asked prices. Securities that are traded over-the-counter are valued, if bid and asked quotations are available, at the mean between the current bid and asked prices. Investments in short-term debt securities having a maturity of 60 days or less are valued at amortized cost. All other securities and assets are valued at fair value as determined in good faith by the Board of Directors. In valuing the Fund's assets, quotations of foreign securities in a foreign currency are translated to U.S. dollar equivalents at the exchange rate in effect on the valuation date.

II) U.S. FEDERAL INCOME TAXES

No provision for federal income taxes is required since the Fund intends to continue to qualify as a regulated investment company and distribute all of its taxable income.

Income and capital gain distributions are determined in accordance with federal income tax regulations, which may differ from GAAP.

At December 31, 2002, the components of net assets (excluding paid in capital) on a tax basis were as follows:

Tax basis capital loss carryover	$ (61,255,744)
Plus/Less:Cumulative Timing Differences ..	(1,028,183)

Accumulated capital loss	$ (62,283,927)

Book unrealized foreign exchange gain		935

NOTES TO FINANCIAL STATEMENTS (CONTINUED)

Book unrealized appreciation	$ 920,486
Plus/Less:Cumulative Timing Differences ...	(655,134)

Unrealized appreciation		265,352

Net assets (excluding paid in capital)	$ (62,017,640)

The differences between book and tax basis unrealized appreciation is primarily attributable to wash sales. The cumulative timing difference for the capital loss carryover is due to post-October Losses.

Net Asset Value	$ 34,248,715
Paid in Capital	(96,266,355)

Net assets (excluding paid in capital)	$ (62,017,640)

Edgar Filing: JARDINE FLEMING CHINA REGION FUND INC - Form N-30D

As of December 31, 2002, the Fund has capital loss carryforwards for federal income tax purposes of $61,255,744, of which $42,188,946 expires in 2006, $11,676,567 expires in 2007, $3,780,058 expires in 2009 and 3,610,173 expires in 2010. The Fund intends to retain gains realized in future periods that may be offset by available capital loss carryforward.

During the year ended December 31, 2002, the Fund reclassified $65,414 from accumulated net realized loss on investments to accumulated net investment loss as a result of permanent book and tax differences relating primarily to realized foreign currency losses. The Fund also reclassified $234,447 from accumulated net investment loss to paid-in capital as a result of permanent tax differences relating to the net operating loss for the year ended December 31, 2002. Net assets were not affected by the reclassifications. The Fund's realized capital losses incurred after October 31, 2002, but before December 31, 2002, are deemed to arise on the first business day of the following year. The Fund incurred and elected to defer such realized capital losses of $1,028,183.

III) FOREIGN CURRENCY TRANSLATION

The books and records of the Fund are maintained in United States dollars. Foreign currency amounts are translated into U.S. dollars at the mid-market price of such currencies against U.S. dollars as follows:

- o investments, other assets, and liabilities at the prevailing rates of exchange on the valuation date;
- o investment transactions and investment income at the prevailing rates of exchange on the dates of such transactions.

Although the net assets of the Fund are presented at the foreign exchange rates and market values at the close of the period, the Fund does not isolate that portion of the results of operations arising as a result of changes in the foreign exchange rates from the fluctuations arising from changes in the market prices of the securities held at period-end. Similarly, the Fund does not isolate the effect of changes in foreign exchange rates from the fluctuations arising from changes in the market prices of securities sold during the period. Accordingly, realized and unrealized foreign currency gains (losses) are included in the reported net realized and unrealized gains (losses) on investments.

JARDINE FLEMING
CHINA REGION FUND, INC.

NOTES TO FINANCIAL STATEMENTS (CONTINUED)

Unrealized currency gains (losses) from valuing foreign currency denominated assets and liabilities at period-end exchange rates are reflected as a component of accumulated net unrealized gain (loss) on investments, foreign currency holdings, and other assets and liabilities denominated in foreign currencies.

IV) DISTRIBUTION OF INCOME AND GAINS

The Fund intends to distribute to shareholders, at least annually, substantially all of its net investment income and expects to distribute annually any net long-term capital gains in excess of net short-term capital losses. An additional distribution may be made to the extent necessary to avoid the payment of a 4% federal excise tax.

Income and capital gain distributions are determined in accordance with federal income tax regulations and may differ from those determined in accordance with generally accepted accounting principles.

V) OTHER

Security transactions are accounted for on the date the securities are purchased or sold. Realized gains and losses on the sale of investment securities are determined on the identified cost basis. Interest income is recognized on the accrual basis. Dividend income and distributions to shareholders are recorded on the ex-dividend date. Portfolio turnover rate is calculated by dividing the lesser of purchases or sales of investment securities having maturities greater than one year at the time of acquisition by the average monthly market value of those investment securities.

3. INVESTMENT TRANSACTIONS

Consistent with its investment objective, the Fund engages in the following transactions practices. The investment objective, policies, program, and risk factors of the Fund are described more fully in the Fund's Prospectus.

I) FOREIGN TRANSACTIONS

Foreign security and currency transactions may involve certain considerations and risks not typically associated with those of U.S. dollar denominated transactions as a result of, among other factors, the level of governmental supervision and regulation of foreign securities markets and the possibility of political or economic instability.

II) OTHER

During the year ended December 31, 2002, the Fund made purchases of $87,975,797 and sales of $85,798,628 of investment securities other than short-term investments. There were no purchases or sales of U.S. government securities.

DIVIDEND REINVESTMENT AND CASH PURCHASE PLAN

THE FUND OPERATES AN OPTIONAL DIVIDEND REINVESTMENT AND CASH PURCHASE PLAN (THE "PLAN") WHEREBY:

- a) shareholders may elect to receive dividend and capital gain distributions in the form of additional shares of the Fund (the Share Distribution Plan).
- b) shareholders may make optional payments (any amount between $100 and $3,000) which will be used to purchase additional shares in the open market (the Share Purchase Plan).

FOR A COPY OF THE PLAN BROCHURE, AS WELL AS A DIVIDEND REINVESTMENT AUTHORIZATION CARD, PLEASE CONTACT:

Edgar Filing: JARDINE FLEMING CHINA REGION FUND INC - Form N-30D

EquiServe Trust Company N.A.
(the Plan Agent):
P. O. Box 8200 Boston, Massachusetts 02266-8200
Telephone No: 800-426-5523 (toll-free)

The following should be noted with respect to the Plan:

If you participate in the Share Distribution Plan, whenever the Board of Directors of the Fund declares an income dividend or net capital gain distribution, you will automatically receive your distribution in newly issued shares (cash will be paid in lieu of fractional shares) if the market price of the shares on the date of the distribution is at or above the net asset value of the shares. The number of shares to be issued to you by the Fund will be determined by dividing the amount of the cash distribution to which you are entitled (net of any applicable withholding taxes) by the greater of the net asset value (NAV) per share on such date or 95% of the market price of a share on such date. If the market price of the shares on such a distribution date is below the NAV, the Plan Agent will, as agent for the participants, buy shares on the open market, on the New York Stock Exchange or elsewhere, for the participant's account on, or after, the payment date. There is no service charge for purchases under this Plan.

For U.S. federal income tax purposes, shareholders receiving newly issued shares pursuant to the Share Distribution Plan will be treated as receiving income or capital gains in an amount equal to the fair market value (determined as of the distribution date) of the shares received and will have a cost basis equal to such fair market value. Shareholders receiving a distribution in the form of shares purchased in the open market pursuant to the Plan will be treated as receiving a distribution of the cash distribution that such shareholder would have received had the shareholder not elected to have such distribution reinvested and will have a cost basis in such shares equal to the amount of the distribution.

There will be no brokerage charge to participants for shares issued directly by the Fund under the Plan. Each participant will pay a pro rata share of brokerage commissions incurred with respect to the Plan Agent's open market purchases of shares in connection with the Plan. The Fund will pay the fees of the Plan Agent for handling the Plan.

You may terminate your account under the Share Distribution Plan by notifying the Plan Agent in writing. The Plan may be terminated by the Plan Agent or the Fund with notice to you at least 30 days prior to any record date for the payment of any distribution by the Fund. Upon any termination, the Plan Agent will deliver a certificate or certificates for the full shares held for you under the Plan and a cash adjustment for any fractional shares.

You also have the option of instructing the Plan Agent to make semiannual cash purchases of shares in the open market. There is a service charge of $1.25 for each purchase under this Share Purchase Plan.
