Subject: Re: Palo Alto Investor's Letter to Canadian Superior dated September 29, 2008

Importance: High

To: Palo Alto Investors

Further to our discussions of this evening and after receiving your letter of today's date outlining your concerns about potential conflicts of interests between Canadian Superior Energy Inc. ("Canadian Superior") and Challenger Energy Corp. ("Challenger Energy") and certain directors and management thereof, on behalf of Canadian Superior, I would like to confirm that several items were discussed with representatives of your firm which we believe mitigate or eliminate any perceived conflicts and/or management issues.

The Board of Directors of Canadian Superior established today a special committee comprised of three (3) independent directors to review, recommend and/or approve any future transactions between Canadian Superior and Challenger Energy. This is in addition to normal requirements under corporate law which Canadian Superior has followed.

Additionally, in any Board matter where the Chairman or any other Director has a conflict, he has and will continue to recuse himself from voting on the issue. Accordingly, we feel that given the above mentioned and the other important matters discussed with you, we have resolved the differences outlined in your letter. However, we will be having further discussions with you to keep you fully apprised of any future developments between the two companies through the independent committee which you are welcome to meet with at any time.

We apologize for any miscommunication that may have led you to believe that these perceived conflicts or issues raised in your letter were irreconcilable and we look forward to meeting with you regarding any issues you may have in the future.

We appreciate your support and look forward to continuing our long-term relationship with your firm.

Yours truly,

CANADIAN SUPERIOR ENERGY INC.

To the Board of Directors of Canadian Superior,

Thank you for your letter today outlining the discussions occurring between representatives of our firm and yours this evening. We find your response in keeping with our desires to resolve our outstanding corporate governance concerns. We appreciate that you have taken steps to ensure independent review of transactions occurring between Challenger Energy, Inc. and Canadian Superior Energy, Inc. and while we agree that this is a key step, we will continue to monitor the situation. We would like to accept your offer to meet with your independent Directors and committee members to review the overall transactional approval process regarding any future strategic or financial transactions between the two companies. Given the changes you have made and have committed to make, we consider this matter resolved.

To the Board of Directors:

In our prior correspondence, we raised concerns about the efficacy of the corporate governance structures of Canadian Superior Energy, Inc. ("Canadian Superior") and conflicts of interest inherent in the transactions between Canadian Superior and Challenger Energy, Inc. ("Challenger"). We informed you that we would continue to evaluate and monitor the policies and procedures of Canadian Superior that are intended to ensure that conflicts are resolved in the best interest of Canadian Superior shareholders.

Based upon your assertions that Canadian Superior's current (and proposed) corporate governance structure is sufficient to identify and mitigate such conflicts of interest, we withheld further comment until we had the opportunity to perform our own review and assessment of its effectiveness. Since September 29, 2008, we have pursued our review which included, but was not limited to the following:

- We reviewed the bridge loan facility agreement between Canadian Superior and Challenger which was executed on September 23, 2008, filed by Challenger on SEDAR on September 25, 2008, and approved by the Canadian Superior Board on September 29, 2008. We discussed the transaction with the Board, management, Canadian Superior's legal counsel, and Challenger's lead bank on the deal.
- We met with Chairman Greg Noval to discuss the process for recusing himself from participation in discussions of and/or voting on transactions between the two companies. Based upon Canadian Superior's policy, stated in its "Code of Conduct", that "(a)ny director with a conflict of interest who is capable of being perceived as being in conflict of interest with respect to the Company must abstain from discussion and voting on any motion to recommend or approve the relevant agreement or transaction", we discussed the procedures Canadian Superior has in place to ensure that this expectation is consistently upheld.
- We met with CEO Craig McKenzie, President and COO Michael Coolen, and Board member Richard Watkins to discuss the Board structure and the functioning of the Board as it relates to related party transactions and conflicts of interest.
- We participated in several phone discussions with Alex Squires, Richard Watkins, and Kaare Idland, three independent Directors who have been chosen by the Board to act as the Special Committee to review transactions between Canadian Superior and Challenger. During those calls, we discussed the Directors' view of the role of the Board, the Audit Committee, and the independent Directors as they relate to the discussion, examination, and approval of transactions wherein any Director of the company may be perceived to have a conflict. We have also discussed in detail the draft Charter for the Special Committee that will cover related party conflicts with regard to Challenger.

- We have reviewed (based on the information available to us) the background, relationships, and roles of each member of the Board of Directors, along with the specific committees to which each is assigned, and the publicly disclosed activity of those committees. We note the lack of a Nominating Committee or a Charter for the Compensation Committee and that the Compensation Committee did not meet during 2007.
- We have reviewed Canadian Superior's annual disclosures regarding its written "Code of Conduct" and have discussed with the Special Committee their view of the nature and handling of conflicts of interest contemplated in that written code.
- We noted Mr. Noval's resignation from the Board of Directors of Challenger Energy, although in our opinion, this does not materially reduce the conflict arising from his significant ownership in Challenger and his position at Canadian Superior.

Having performed this review, our main conclusion is that Canadian Superior still has, in our opinion, the potential to encounter future transactions where material conflicts may exist and that the size and complexity of such conflicts may increase over time. As one of your largest shareholders, we believe that all shareholders would significantly benefit from the Board taking further steps to mitigate or eliminate the impact of all real and perceived conflicts of interest while avoiding further transactions that create or exacerbate such conflicts.

We believe that the Special Committee created by the Board to review transactions between Canadian Superior and Challenger should be provided with a broader mandate than has been communicated to us so far, and that the Special Committee should engage independent outside counsel (unaffiliated with existing Corporate counsel) to aid in its endeavors. We believe the Board should consider empowering this committee with oversight over all transactions with potential conflicts of interest. This would allow the committee's oversight to encompass the Liberty LNG joint venture, in which certain Directors have or may have ongoing ownership stakes, as well as future related party activity in the company's growing worldwide operations. We also believe that the Board should recognize that all such existing and future related party transactions already fall under the oversight and authority of the Audit Committee, which should examine such transactions for compliance with applicable legal requirements, including the Sarbanes-Oxley Act ("SOX"), among others.

We believe the entire Board and the Special Committee should now be acting proactively to prepare for future conflicts so that shareholder interests are considered in advance of future transactions between Canadian Superior and Challenger. For example, the recent bridge loan, if drawn upon by Challenger, will become due and payable by December 31, 2008. At that time, Canadian Superior will need to decide whether to require cash repayment, or whether it will convert (at its option, per the agreement) into shares of Challenger at $3.00 per share. In our opinion, if Challenger's stock price is below the conversion price of the note, as it stands today, we do not see any benefit in conversion, especially given Canadian Superior's need for cash to further develop Block 5(C). Moreover, it would seem inadvisable for Canadian Superior to unnecessarily part with cash in light of the continued credit crisis, which has made obtaining financing extremely difficult for most companies. We believe the Board should be considering what proactive measures and discussions it could have right now so that it can act accordingly when situations like this arise, in order to avoid making such important decisions under exigent timing circumstances.

We believe that the Board has more work to do to enhance corporate governance.

For example, we believe the Compensation Committee and Nominating Committee need to convene sufficient meetings to consider matters relating to succession planning, the roles and responsibilities of executive officers, and performance assessment and remuneration policies. In addition, we note that the 2007 Auditors Report noted several areas of "material weakness" resulting from a lack of sufficient internal controls on financial reporting. We trust that these shortcomings have been rectified and stronger controls and Audit Committee oversight are now in place, however, based on our discussions with Directors, in our opinion there may continue to be a lack of clarity as to the specific roles, responsibilities and authority levels of each executive officer comprising management.

We believe the Company should consider a reconstitution of the Board of Directors to include independent Directors with relevant international oil and gas expertise and solid corporate governance backgrounds. It is our opinion that the Company's opportunity set and financing requirements have changed dramatically in the last two years. Having strong Directors in these areas will engender the confidence of the financial community and will enhance the Company's ability to secure the ongoing capital required to realize full value for shareholders. In our opinion, it is essential that the members of the Board of Directors be in a position to maintain adequate control and exercise independent judgment in the context of transactions where conflicts of interest exist or may be perceived to exist. While the Company has disclosed the nature of certain existing potential conflicts, that disclosure in and of itself does not excuse the Board from the ongoing requirement of assuring that those potential conflicts are resolved without influence by interested parties.

Because we believe that many of our concerns are shared by other Canadian Superior shareholders, we also suggest that the Special Committee establish a procedure by which shareholders can contact them directly to share their concerns and viewpoints regarding governance and related party transactions. We suggest that you identify a Lead Independent Director, with contact details, to whom complaints/comments can be sent with the assurance that the contact and content will be passed to the entire Board via the independent directors.

Our goal is to see the development and implementation of policies and procedures that best serve all Canadian Superior shareholders and we will continue to monitor and evaluate the Board's activities in these areas.

As concerned shareholders of Canadian Superior and in light of Palo Alto Investor, LLC's desire to see shareholder value maximized, we reserve the right to continue to express our concerns and to pursue the most appropriate investment strategies available to us; including, but not limited to, future acquisitions and/or disposition of Canadian Superior common stock.

Sincerely,

David Anderson
