Item 1.01 Entry into a Material Definitive Agreement.

Effective May 24, 2006, Gen-Probe Incorporated (the Company) and Diagnocure, Inc. (Diagnocure) entered into Amendment No. 1 to License, Development and Cooperation Agreement (the Amendment), amending the terms of the License, Development and Cooperation Agreement dated November 19, 2003 between the parties (the License Agreement). A copy of the License Agreement has been filed as an exhibit to the Company's Annual Report on Form 10-K for the fiscal year ended December 31, 2003 and is described in the Company's most recent Annual Report on Form 10-K.

Pursuant to the terms of the Amendment:

- (i) Gen-Probe granted to Diagnocure exclusive rights to develop in vivo products for the detection or measurement of PCA3 as a marker for the diagnosis, monitoring or prognosis of prostate cancer. Diagnocure will owe Gen-Probe royalties on net sales of any such products;
- (ii) Gen-Probe granted to Diagnocure co-exclusive rights to develop fluorescence in situ hybridization products for the detection or measurement of PCA3 as a marker for the diagnosis, monitoring or prognosis of prostate cancer. Diagnocure will owe Gen-Probe royalties on net sales of any such products;
- (iii) Diagnocure will undertake over a twelve-month period the validation of genetic markers that Gen-Probe acquired under its license agreement with Corixa Corporation. Gen-Probe will make monthly payments to Diagnocure for these services; and
- (iv) Gen-Probe and Diagnocure agreed to a new regulatory timeline regarding Gen-Probe's development obligations for an in vitro diagnostic assay for PCA3. The new regulatory timeline may be extended only for events beyond Gen-Probe's reasonable control or those that render it in the best economic interests of the parties to defer regulatory submission. As was the case under the License Agreement prior to amendment, in the event Gen-Probe fails to meet the regulatory timeline, Gen-Probe may lose exclusivity with respect to the licensed PCA3 marker.
