CENTEX PROPOSES 2-FOR-1 SPLIT ON COMMON STOCK AND A DOUBLING OF ITS ANNUAL CASH DIVIDEND

Centex Also Proposes Consolidation of Centex Development Company, L.P. and 3333 Holding Corporation

DALLAS Nov. 18, 2003: During its annual investor conference held today in New York, Centex Corporation (NYSE:CTX) announced that its Board of Directors has authorized a 2-for-1 split of Centex Corporation common stock in the form of a stock dividend. Centex's annual cash dividend will remain at $.16 per share per year, effectively doubling the company's annual dividend to its stockholders. The split and the dividend increase are subject to shareholder approval of an increase in the number of shares the company is authorized to issue, and to final approval of the stock split by the Executive Committee of the Board of Directors.

A special shareholder meeting to approve an increase in the number of authorized common shares from 100 million shares (par value $.25 per share) to 300 million shares will be scheduled as soon as possible and is expected to occur within the next 120 days. If Centex receives the requisite votes and the Executive Committee approves the stock split, the Board of Directors will determine a record date and distribution date for the stock dividend. Upon completion of the stock split, approximately 125 million shares of Centex common stock will be outstanding.

The action of the Board of Directors regarding the stock split reflects confidence in Centex's future as well as our desire to maintain the stock's liquidity and keep shares affordable for a wide range of investors, said Centex Chairman and CEO Larry Hirsch. He added, "The increase in the cash dividend is evidence of the financial strength of Centex and our ability to pay a larger cash dividend to our shareholders while meeting the capital needs of our rapidly growing core businesses."

The company also announced today that 3333 Holding Corporation (Holding) and Centex Development Company, L.P. (CDC) have entered into agreements with Centex Corporation which, if approved by the shareholders of Centex Corporation and Holding, will end the tandem trading relationship between Centex common stock and equity interests in Holding and CDC. This action will effect a consolidation of Holding and CDC as indirect, wholly owned subsidiaries of Centex Corporation. This shareholder approval will be sought at the special meeting referred to above.

Because of their beneficial ownership in Holding and CDC, the Centex Corporation shareholders who are record holders at the time the consolidation takes effect will receive aggregate cash compensation of $.02 per share, which is equivalent to 50% of last quarter's cash dividend. Centex stockholders would continue to own indirectly the same equity value in Holding and CDC before and after consummation of the transaction. Full financial statements for CDC and Holding are included in the most recent Form 10-Q for the quarter ended September 30, 2003 and the March 31, 2003 Form 10-K, together with a pro-forma consolidation with Centex. Taking into account assets, debt and shareholders equity in Holding and CDC, as well as net earnings, the consolidation will not impact Centex's credit ratings.

Centex believes the consolidation of CDC and Holding (if approved by shareholders) will be beneficial because, among other considerations, it will: (i) allay confusion among investors surrounding the tandem trading relationship; (ii) eliminate the additional cost of having two public companies, Holding and CDC, without affecting the underlying businesses; and (iii) permit Fairclough Homes Group, Ltd., a UK homebuilding subsidiary of CDC, to be managed directly by Centex Homes, which is the principal home building subsidiary of Centex. Over the past year, CDC and Holding have taken advantage of strong investor demand, selling a number of their assets and land positions. Centex does not intend to allocate any new capital to CDC, as nearly all of the available capital of Centex is being allocated to its home building operation.

As part of the transactions to eliminate the tandem trading of Holding common stock, Centex, Holding and CDC have signed and delivered two separate merger agreements and an amendment of the nominee agreement, and the shareholder warrants to acquire limited partnership interests in CDC will be eliminated. The Board of Directors of Holding formed a special committee consisting solely of independent directors to evaluate the consolidation and related transactions. In conjunction with its legal and financial advisors, the special committee reviewed the proposed transactions and then negotiated with Centex, culminating in the agreements that were reached yesterday. The special committee has received a fairness opinion on these transactions from the investment banking firm of Houlihan Lokey Howard & Zukin Financial Advisors, Inc. Certain of these transactions will require approval by the shareholders of Centex and Holding at the special meeting described above. For these reasons, there can be no assurance that consolidation, or any of the other transactions described above, will occur on the terms described above, if at all.

Mr. Hirsch noted that, This consolidation is consistent with other actions taken recently to align our portfolio of businesses with investor interests. These actions include the recent spin-off of Cavco Industries (NASDAQ:CVCO), a manufactured housing company, and the imminent spin-off of Centex Construction Products, Inc., a construction materials company (NYSE:CXP). Mr. Hirsch further noted that, All of these actions underscore Centex's commitment to grow its home building business and other core businesses. We are focusing on the businesses we know best and which offer our shareholders the greatest opportunity for significant returns on equity and increased earnings in the future.

Proxy statements detailing the foregoing will soon be filed with the Securities and Exchange Commission. Once the documents are cleared by the SEC, they will be mailed to Centex Corporation shareholders, who are also the beneficial owners of the Holding common stock and the stockholder warrants of CDC, for their review prior to the special meeting to be held within 120 days.

Through its subsidiaries, Dallas-based Centex, a Fortune 250 company, ranks as one of the nation's premier companies in the Home Building, Financial Services, Home Services and Construction Services industries.
