VIA E-MAIL

Dear Mr. Forster:

We are writing to follow-up on our phone call on February 14, 2006 and in response to your letter dated February 14, 2006. I was very disappointed with your response that it is not in the best interests of shareholders to offer a board seat to your largest shareholder.

Your suggested proposal of inviting me to make regular two-hour presentations to the Board three times a year for the next two years so as to ensure you hear our views regularly in exchange for a customary two year standstill agreement is not acceptable to us. In view of your response, we are left with no choice other than to propose our own slate of directors for election to the board. Accordingly, we are delivering today to the company a formal notice that we will nominate three directors for election at New Century's 2006 Annual Meeting.

While it is kind of you to recognize that our suggestions have been helpful and enabled New Century to make incremental adjustments to its strategy, we are disappointed that the Board of Directors has now opted for a proxy contest in lieu of an amicable compromise of expanding the Board by a single seat to formalize our ongoing participation in ensuring that New Century adopts a business plan centered around per share value maximization.

On our phone call, you made a number of troubling comments demonstrating a surprising misperception of Greenlight's agenda that neither reflect our previous discussions nor our actual views. Let us set the record straight, so there is no confusion.

Our agenda is for New Century to make its capital allocation decisions for the sole purpose of maximizing per share values for all shareholders, while adopting conservative accounting practices that do not front-load earnings and maintaining a conservative capital structure so as to enable New Century to both survive and thrive through the volatility inherent in the mortgage banking business.

We believe that a per share value maximization policy requires different decisions at different times depending on facts and circumstances. For example, at the August 2005 Board of Directors meeting I was explicitly asked whether we favored a share repurchase. With the shares trading at $53, I responded that we were not big supporters of a share repurchase at that time.

However, as the shares have subsequently fallen to a lower level, the facts have changed and our views have changed.

For you to now advance the notion that the whole purpose of our year-long dialogue has been to radically downsize the capital base, reflects, at best, a faulty memory.

To respond to your misperceptions, we do not advocate reducing New Century's capital by two-thirds and we do not advocate abandonment of the portfolio strategy. We have never advanced either idea in any context. As I pointed out to you on the phone, we believe that per share value maximization requires New Century to weigh its cost of equity properly against investment opportunities. We believe that New Century should deploy its capital toward its best risk-adjusted opportunities. In some circumstances, that could entail a substantial return of capital or wholesale modification of the business plan.

For example, the risk-adjusted return available on capital deployed for share repurchases should be compared to the risk-adjusted return available on capital deployed to hold incremental levered subprime loans. At first, we were pleased to hear your assertion that the Board is already performing this exercise. However, I became troubled when I asked you again what New Century's cost of equity is under this analysis. First, you again declined to answer and then you proceeded to ask us what we thought the cost of equity is.

Of course, this exchange furthers our conviction that we can add substantial additional value through a direct presence on New Century's Board of Directors.

We strongly disagree with your comment that the only reason that the stock is where it is now, is that the industry is being colored in a horrendous way. We believe that New Century shares are depressed due to a history of capital misallocation, market anticipation of future capital misallocation and a number of other self-inflicted actions that we have previously discussed with you.

We have been large, long-term shareholders in New Century since 2002. As we have said, we believe that New Century's origination platform is an extraordinary, though volatile, asset. Our investment in New Century has performed well over the years because the value of the origination platform has experienced extraordinary growth. This growth has been mitigated by a series of capital allocation decisions taken in the absence of a proper determination of per share value maximization. We believe that the future of New Century will be brighter and the experience of all New Century shareholders will be much improved if future decisions are made in a better fashion. Sincerely,

/s/ DAVID EINHORN

Leverage or Margin: While a portion of the purchase price or market value of the shares of which Mr. Einhorn may be deemed the beneficial owner was represented by funds borrowed or otherwise obtained for the purpose of acquiring or holding such securities, at the present time, all such shares are held in a cash account and no borrowings are currently in effect with respect to such shares. The portion of the purchase price or market value of the shares that was represented by funds borrowed or otherwise obtained was pursuant to a brokerage margin account.

Contracts, Arrangements or Understandings: Except as disclosed in this Notice, neither Mr. Einhorn, the Management Entities, the Greenlight Funds nor any other entity affiliated with Mr. Einhorn is, or has been within the past year, a party to any contract, arrangement or understanding with any person with respect to any securities of New Century, including but not limited to joint ventures, loan or option arrangements, puts or calls, guarantees against loss or guarantees of profit, division of losses or profits, or the giving or withholding of proxies.

Other Interests Relating to New Century: Each of the Greenlight Funds is a party to a cash-settled equity-based swap contract pursuant to a standard ISDA form and swap confirmation with an independent bank counterparty based on the value of a specified number of shares of Common Stock (the Basket). Pursuant to the terms of each swap contract, if the per share price of the Common Stock is greater than $36.55 as of the payment date, the swap counterparty must pay the respective Greenlight Fund the product of (a) the number of shares in the Basket on the payment date, multiplied by (b) the volume weighted average price per share on the payment date, less $36.55 per share, subject to set off versus such Greenlight Fund's payment obligation. In the event that the per share price of the Common Stock is less than $36.55 as of the payment date, the respective Greenlight Fund must pay the swap counterparty the product of (a) the number of shares in the Basket on the payment date, multiplied by (b) $36.55 per share, less the volume weighted average price per share on the payment date. On the payment date, each Greenlight Fund must pay the swap counterparty an amount equal to the product of (a) the number of reference shares in the Basket, multiplied by (b) $36.55, multiplied by (c) an annual rate of interest of the one day federal funds rate plus fifty basis points, subject to set off versus the swap counterparty's payment obligation. Each swap is scheduled to terminate on October 4, 2006. Each swap may be terminated on two days' notice from the respective Greenlight Fund. The Basket for the Greenlight Funds in the aggregate is 2,091,800 shares of Common Stock, divided among the Greenlight Funds as follows: the Basket for Greenlight LP is an aggregate 167,900 shares of Common Stock; the Basket for Greenlight Qualified is an aggregate 811,500 shares of Common Stock; the Basket for Greenlight Offshore is an aggregate 954,600 shares of Common Stock; and the Basket for the account managed by DME is an aggregate 157,800 shares of Capital Stock. The Greenlight Funds do not have the right to vote any shares of Common Stock or dispose of any shares of Common Stock pursuant to any swap contract, and the counterparty is under no obligation to purchase, sell or hold any shares of Common Stock. In addition, the swaps may only be settled for cash.

Mr. Einhorn has not received any compensation from New Century as a director or executive officer.

Arrangements Relating to Nomination: Each Nominee will enter into an indemnification agreement with Greenlight LLC pursuant to which Greenlight LLC will indemnify such Nominee from and against any losses incurred by such Nominee arising out of his nomination for election as a director of New Century at the 2006 Meeting, his election to the Board and his serving on the Board. Each indemnification agreement will provide that if the Nominee is elected to the Board, any indemnification of losses from Greenlight LLC shall apply only after giving effect to any indemnification provided by New Century.

Interest in Matters to be Acted Upon: Due to their direct or indirect ownership interests in the Common Stock and their other interests relating to New Century described above under Other Interests Relating to New Century, Mr. Einhorn, the Management Entities and the Greenlight Funds have an interest in the solicitation of proxies in support of the Nominees.
