PART III NARRATIVE

State below in reasonable detail why the Forms 10-K, 20-F, 11-K, 10-Q, 10-D, N-SAR, N-CSR, or the transition report portion thereof, could not be filed within the prescribed time period.

On April 30, 2007, the Registrant filed its Annual Report on Form 10-K for the year ended December 31, 2006. The Registrant's filing of the Form 10-K was delayed due to its not being able to devote resources to closing its financial records for the fourth quarter or the year ended December 31, 2006 or being able to begin to prepare the Form 10-K until mid-February following the Registrant's restatement of its financial statements for the years ended December 31, 2005 and 2004, for each calendar quarter in 2005 and for the first two calendar quarters in 2006. The restated financial statements were included in the Registrant's Quarterly Report on Form 10-Q for the quarterly period ended September 30, 2006 filed with the Securities and Exchange Commission on February 2, 2007. The Registrant's accounting staff was dedicated to completing the prior period restatements before closing the Registrant's financial records for 2006 and preparing the Form 10-K. This delay, coupled with the need for the Company's registered independent public accountants to complete their review and audit of the Registrant's financial statements, were the primary causes of the Company's failure to file the Form 10-K in a timely manner.

Although the Registrant allocated a portion of its accounting staff's resources to preparing its financial statements for the first quarter of 2007 while it was concurrently preparing its Annual Report on Form 10-K for the year ended December 31, 2006, the completion of such financial statements and the related Form 10-Q for the quarterly period ended March 31, 2007 was nevertheless impacted by the delay in the filing of the Form 10-K. Additionally, as disclosed in the Form 10-K, the Registrant has identified and is actively working to remedy various material weaknesses in its internal controls over financial reporting. At this time and as a result of all of the factors described above, the Registrant is unable to timely file its Quarterly Report on Form 10-Q for the period ended March 31, 2007 without unreasonable effort or expense. The Registrant intends to file that Form 10-Q as promptly as practicable.

On a restated basis for the three months ended March 31, 2006, the Registrant reported consolidated revenue of $33.6 million, a $1.3 million operating loss, and $1.9 million, or $0.13 per share on a fully diluted basis, of net loss available to the common stockholders.

The Registrant currently expects that, for the three months ended March 31, 2007, it will report consolidated revenue in the range of $36 to $37 million, an operating loss in the range of $1 to $2 million, and a net loss available to common stockholders in the range of $1.5 to $2.5 million.

All subsequent written and oral forward-looking statements attributable to us or individuals acting on our behalf are expressly qualified in their entirety by this paragraph. You should specifically consider the factors identified in our Annual Report on Form 10-K for the year ended December 31, 2006, which would cause actual results to differ from those referred to in forward-looking statements.
