Regulator publishes draft resolution on Magyar Telekom's reference unbundling and local bitstream access offer

Edgar Filing: Magyar Telekom Plc. - Form 6-K

Budapest July 17, 2006 Magyar Telekom (Reuters: NYSE: MTA.N, BÉT: MTEL.BU and Bloomberg: NYSE: MTA US, BÉT: MTELEKOM HB), the leading Hungarian telecommunications service provider today announced that the Board of the Hungarian National Regulatory Authority (NRA) has published its draft resolution concerning the new reference unbundling and local bitstream access offer.

This release highlights the major changes implied in the regulator's draft resolution published on July 14, 2006; new fees are applicable retrospectively from January 19, 2006. The main changes to the reference offer are:

The new reference offer enables the full and the shared (partial) sub-loop unbundling

Unused loops become available for unbundling

All data included in this announcement is in line with the draft resolution.

1. Monthly fee

The new basic monthly fees in the draft resolution are around 1-4% lower compared to previous levels (applied since August 2005). The table below sets out the new fees excluding VAT:

HUF	New fees (draft resolution)
Local loop unbundling monthly fee	2,399
Shared local loop unbundling monthly fee	1,289
Local bitstream access monthly fee	3,323

2. Pricing of related services

The price of some related services has changed from a one time fee to a monthly fee. NRA has modified the cost model filed by Magyar Telekom resulting in a significant decrease in the price of related services. For example, the one time examination fee of the loop decreases by 75% to HUF 9,362, and the local bitstream access internal tie cable monthly fee by 86% to HUF 4,889.
