The Reasons and Details of Amendments to the Articles of Incorporation

(2nd Item of Business)

1. Reasons for the Amendments:

- (2) Pursuant to the enforcement on September 25, 2003 of the Law Concerning Amendments to the Commercial Code and the Law for Special Exceptions to the Commercial Code concerning Audit, etc. of Kabushiki Kaisha (2003 Law No. 132), companies are allowed to acquire their own shares in accordance with a resolution of the Board of Directors if their articles of incorporation stipulate so. In order to make it possible to implement a flexible capital policy in response to the changes in the economic climate, the Company added a new provision regarding acquisition of the Company's own shares (Article 7 after the amendment).
- (3) Pursuant to the enforcement on April 1, 2003, of the Law for partially amending the Commercial Code, etc. (2002 Law No. 44), a system has been established under which shareholders can purchase additional shares when they hold an amount less than one unit (tangen). In order to improve services for shareholders, a new provision (Article 9 after the amendment) was added to provide for the adoption of a system for such purchases of additional shares. In conjunction with this new article, revisions were made as necessary.
- (4) Pursuant to the enforcement on April 1, 2002 of the Law for partially amending the Commercial Code, etc. (2001 Law No. 128), companies are allowed to remove the provision for handling of convertible debentures from their Articles of Incorporation. In addition, the Company totally redeemed all outstanding convertible debentures during the reporting term. Thereby, the former provisions of Articles 40 and 42 were removed.
