FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

GE COMPLETES ACQUISITION OF INTERLOGIX, INC.

FEBRUARY 21, 2002 - PLAINVILLE, CT - GE Industrial Systems, a division of General Electric Company (NYSE: GE), announced today the completion of the acquisition of Interlogix, Inc., the global electronic security company based in Austin, TX. GE acquired approximately 95% of the Interlogix shares tendered in the offer, and, on Thursday, February 21, 2002, Interlogix was merged into a wholly-owned subsidiary of GE. Each remaining Interlogix share was converted into the right to receive $19.43 in cash and 0.5174 of a share of GE common stock for each share of common stock of Interlogix.

The business is now known as GE Interlogix, Inc. Ken Boyda, president and CEO of Interlogix will continue in that role for the new entity, reporting to Lloyd G. Trotter, president and CEO of GE Industrial Systems.

"With this acquisition, GE acquires a strong global company that will provide us with leading-edge technology in the exciting security arena, offering us an attractive new platform to enhance our continued growth. These innovative technologies will be particularly important as the demand for security products and systems continues to increase," said Trotter. "These products offer an exciting complement to many of the industrial components already manufactured by our business, and will allow us to better serve our customers with a broader, more diversified portfolio of products, systems and services to meet their needs."

Interlogix is comprised of three principal divisions:

- o Security and Lifesafety: A global provider of wired and wireless intrusion and fire protection components and systems.
- o Enterprise Technologies: Leading edge systems for digital surveillance and video image storage / retrieval. The company has the capability to integrate all surveillance and access control functionality into a single enterprise wide system for global companies.
- o Key Management: A supplier of products and services for multiple remote site entry, mobile access and information management and asset tracking / control.

GE Interlogix has over 35 locations in the United States, Australia, Belgium, United Kingdom, Poland, Italy, Ireland, Germany, France, the Netherlands, South Africa, Czechoslovakia, Sweden, and Spain.

Boyda commented, "GE Interlogix will create a dynamic force within the global security products and services industry. By combining our solution-driven product offering and leading-edge technology platforms with GE Industrial Systems' core products and services, customers will now have access to a broader, more diversified product portfolio. We are excited to be part of a company that affords the benefits of size and scale, and a commitment to industry leadership."
