Caution concerning forward-looking statements This communication contains "forward-looking" statements as that term is defined in Section 27A of the Securities Act of 1933, as amended, and Section 21E of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934, as amended by the Private Securities Litigation Reform Act of 1995, including statements regarding the proposed transaction between GE and BHI. All statements, other than historical facts, including statements regarding the expected timing and structure of the proposed transaction; the ability of the parties to complete the proposed transaction considering the various closing conditions; the expected benefits of the proposed transaction such as improved operations, enhanced revenues and cash flow, synergies, growth potential, market profile, customers' business plans and financial strength; the competitive ability and position of the combined company following completion of the proposed transaction, including the projected impact on GE's earnings per share; the projected future financial performance of GE Oil and Gas, BHI and Newco; oil and natural gas market conditions; costs and availability of resources; legal, economic and regulatory conditions; and any assumptions underlying any of the foregoing, are forward-looking statements. Forward-looking statements concern future circumstances and results and other statements that are not historical facts and are sometimes identified by the words "may," "will," "should," "potential," "intend," "expect," "endeavor," "seek," "anticipate," "estimate," "overestimate," "underestimate," "believe," "could," "project," "predict," "continue," "target" or other similar words or expressions. Forward-looking statements are based upon current plans, estimates and expectations that are subject to risks, uncertainties and assumptions. Should one or more of these risks or uncertainties materialize, or should underlying assumptions prove incorrect, actual results may vary materially from those indicated or anticipated by such forward-looking statements. The inclusion of such statements should not be regarded as a representation that such plans, estimates or expectations will be achieved. Important factors that could cause actual results to differ materially from such plans, estimates or expectations include, among others, (1) that one or more closing conditions to the transaction, including certain regulatory approvals, may not be satisfied or waived, on a timely basis or otherwise, including that a governmental entity may prohibit, delay or refuse to grant approval for the consummation of the proposed transaction, may require conditions, limitations or restrictions in connection with such approvals or that the required approval by the stockholders of BHI may not be obtained; (2) the risk that the proposed transaction may not be completed in the time frame expected by GE or BHI, or at all; (3) unexpected costs, charges or expenses resulting from the proposed transaction; (4) uncertainty of the expected financial performance of the combined company following completion of the proposed transaction; (5) failure to realize the anticipated benefits of the proposed transaction, including as a result of delay in completing the proposed transaction or integrating the businesses of GE, BHI and Newco; (6) the ability of the combined company to implement its business strategy; (7) difficulties and delays in achieving revenue and cost synergies of the combined company; (8) inability to retain and hire key personnel; (9) the occurrence of any event that could give rise to termination of the proposed transaction; (10) the risk that stockholder litigation in connection with the proposed transaction or other settlements or investigations may affect the timing or occurrence of the contemplated merger or result in significant costs of defense, indemnification and liability; (11) evolving legal, regulatory and tax regimes; (12) changes in general economic and/or industry specific conditions, including oil price changes; (13) actions by third parties, including government agencies; and (14) other risk factors as detailed from time to time in GE's and BHI's reports filed with the SEC, including GE's and BHI's annual report on Form 10-K, periodic quarterly reports on Form 10-Q, periodic current reports on Form 8-K and other documents filed with the SEC. The foregoing list of important factors is not exclusive.

Any forward-looking statements speak only as of the date of this communication. Neither GE nor BHI undertakes any obligation to update any forward-looking statements, whether as a result of new information or development, future events or otherwise, except as required by law. Readers are cautioned not to place undue reliance on any of these forward-looking statements.

Note: Revenues across product companies may not add to the total due to the use of rounded numbers. The mathematical aggregation of revenue reported for GE O and G's five sub-segments differs from revenue reported for GE O and G as a whole due principally to eliminations on inter-sub-segment sales of products and services, which are reflected as an adjustment to the revenue reported for GE O and G but not as an adjustment to the revenue reported for each of the five sub-segments. In addition, revenue and orders for GE O and Gs five sub-segments have been recast retrospectively (with no impact on GE O and G as a whole) to reflect the effect of

Summary of transaction structure

GE contributes GE Oil and Gas and $7.4B of cash, and BHI transfers its business to the Partnership:

-- BHI transfers 100% of its assets and liabilities to a newly formed Partnership in exchange for 37.5% of its equity owned through a newly NYSE listed corporation ("new Baker Hughes")

-- GE transfers its Oil and Gas business and $7.4B of cash in exchange for 62.5% of its equity

-- GE's $7.4B cash to the Partnership to be used to fund a $17.50 per share dividend to the existing Baker Hughes shareholders

There will be no incremental net debt on new Baker Hughes or the Partnership as a result of the transaction

-- Neither the Operating Partnership nor BHI will incur any debt to fund the $17.50 special dividend

-- It is currently expected that the ratings of the new Baker Hughes will be A+ from SandP and A3 from Moody's At the closing of the transaction, the Baker Hughes shareholders will receive Class A shares in the new Baker Hughes on a one-for one basis (representing their 37.5% Ownership) and GE will receive Class B shares (which represents its 62.5% voting ownership)

At the closing of the transaction, the "float" of new Baker Hughes will be substantially the same as it was immediately prior to the transaction

-- Baker Hughes shareholders will receive 100% of the class A shares, which will represent 100% of the free float The Class B shares held by GE will be subject to the restrictions in the Stockholders Agreement

GE Oil and Gas selected financial data

o Revenue and Segment Profit represent reported amounts disclosed as industrial operating segment results within General Electric Company's annual and quarterly SEC filings, which are prepared in conformity with U.S. generally accepted accounting principles. Such information has been prepared solely for purposes of consolidation by GE, and not for stand-alone financial reporting purposes.

o Segment revenues include revenues and other income related to the segment. Segment profit is determined based on internal performance measures used by the Chief Executive Officer (CEO) to assess the performance of each business in a given period. In connection with that assessment, the CEO may exclude matters such as charges for restructuring; rationalization and other similar expenses; acquisition costs and other related charges; technology and product development costs; certain gains and losses from acquisitions or dispositions; and litigation settlements or other charges, for which responsibility preceded the current management team. For each of the years ended December 31, 2013, 2014 and 2015 and for each of the nine-month periods ended September 30, 2015 and 2016, excluded net charges (pre-tax) aggregated $0.2B, $0.2B, $0.5B, $0.4B and $0.7B, respectively. The charges in 2015 and 2016 predominately relate to restructuring, rationalization and other similar expenses. Intercompany transactions are reflected in Revenue and Segment Profit on the basis of GE policies and procedures.

o Segment profit excludes the portion of earnings or loss attributable to non-controlling interests of consolidated subsidiaries, and as such only includes the portion of earnings or loss attributable to our share of the consolidated earnings or loss of consolidated subsidiaries. Segment profit also excludes interest and other financial charges and income taxes. For purposes of this presentation, segment profit may also be referred to as EBIT. Certain GE corporate costs, such as shared services, employee benefits and information technology are allocated to our segments based on usage. A portion of the remaining corporate costs is allocated based on each segment's relative net cost of operations.

o Revenue, Sub-Segment Revenue and Segment Profit reflect the historical operations of acquired businesses from their date of acquisition and the historical operations of divested businesses through their date of disposal. Such activities include, but are not limited to:

- the Advanced Sensors and Wayne dispositions within Digital Solutions on December 19, 2013 and June 20, 2014, respectively;

- the Industrial Air and Gas Technology disposition and the Reciprocating Compression acquisition within Downstream Technology Solutions on June 30, 2015 and June 2, 2014, respectively;

Edgar Filing: BAKER HUGHES INC - Form 425

- the Lufkin acquisition within Surface on July 1, 2013; and

- the Salof acquisition within Turbomachinery Solutions on May 31, 2013, respectively.

- o The mathematical aggregation of revenue reported for GE O and G's five sub-segments differs from revenue reported for GE O and G as a whole due principally to eliminations on inter-sub-segment sales of products and services, which are reflected as an adjustment to the revenue reported for GE O and G but not as an adjustment to the revenue reported for each of the five sub-segments. In addition, revenue and orders for GE O and Gs five sub-segments have been recast retrospectively (with no impact on GE O and G as a whole) to reflect the effect of internal realignments of individual businesses within GE O and G.
