COMPENSATION COMMITTEE REPORT ON EXECUTIVE COMPENSATION

The Compensation Committee is comprised entirely of non-employee directors and is responsible for acting on behalf of the Board with respect to (i) general compensation and benefit practices of W. P. Carey & Co. LLC, (ii) reviewing and making recommendations to the Board of Directors of salaries and other compensation actions for Wm. Polk Carey, Francis J. Carey, George E. Stoddard, Gordon F. DuGan and John J. Park, and (iii) adopting, administering and approving or recommending the approval by the Board of Directors of awards under annual and long-term incentive compensation plans.

Compensation Philosophy

The Compensation Committee is committed to a compensation philosophy that rewards employees on the basis of W. P. Carey & Co. LLC's success in attaining corporate financial objectives as well as on the basis of the employees' success in attaining individual financial and qualitative performance objectives. W. P. Carey & Co. LLC's compensation program is designed to:

- Attract, motivate, reward and retain highly qualified executives.
- Align shareholder and employee interests.
- Reward long-term career contributions to W. P. Carey & Co. LLC.
- Emphasize the variable portion of total compensation (cash and stock) as an individual's level of responsibility increases.

- Provide fully competitive compensation opportunities consistent with performance.
- Encourage teamwork.

During 2002, the Compensation Committee conducted a review of W. P. Carey & Co. LLC's executive compensation programs, assessing the effectiveness of the programs and relative competitiveness versus identified companies of similar size and business characteristics to W. P. Carey & Co. LLC. This comparable group included companies from both the real estate investment trust and diversified financial marketplace representing the most direct competitors for executive talent.

Key Elements of Compensation

The key elements of W. P. Carey & Co. LLC's executive compensation program are base salary, employee benefits, annual bonus and long-term stock incentives. As an executive's level of responsibility increases, a greater portion of total compensation is based on annual and long-term performance-based incentive compensation and less on salary and employee benefits, creating the potential for greater variability in the individual's compensation level from year to year. The mix, level and structure of performance-based incentive elements is intended to reflect industry practices as well as the executive's role and relative impact on the business. The Compensation Committee believes that company performance should be measured on the basis of both quantitative and qualitative assessments. Quantitative measures include performance in areas such as growth in funds from operations (FFO), net operating income growth, operating margins, return on invested capital and market value. Qualitative measures include performance in the areas such as asset quality, asset management, risk management and tenant retention. These quantitative and qualitative measures are not formally weighted for purposes of determining salaries or incentive awards.

Section 162(m) of the Internal Revenue Code denies a deduction for compensation in excess of $1 million paid to certain executive officers, unless certain performance, disclosure, and shareholder approval requirements are met. Option and restricted stock grants under the W. P. Carey & Co. LLC 1997 Listed Share Incentive Plan are intended to qualify as "performance-based" compensation not subject to the Section 162(m) deduction limitation.
